

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A press pad is disclosed having a fabric, whose weft and/or warp (1) each have alternating types of thread having differing elasticities transverse to the thread axis, these types of thread having polymer material with high temperature stability. Using this press 5 pad, the compensation of different pressures is improved in relation to the known press pads.